

JIA Rui

---

37 years old, master degree in aircraft engine engineering, more than 14 years of experience in aerospace industry.

China Representative of the Italian Aerospace Network from 2014 until now.

In charge of all the business communication and all the support activities for the Network, such as developed projects with the main Chinese players (COMAC, AVIC, XAC etc), defined collaborations with the main Chinese aeronautical districts and actively participated in the definition of Italy-China governmental agreements in the aviation field, supported and coordinated the creation of different collaboration platforms between Italian and Chinese companies.

Support Italy companies for business negotiation with the Chinese customer.

Communicate with different kinds of associations in China to set up the partnership and hold the professional forum/airshow together in order to promote Italian advanced technology.

As the technical leader for big projects such as the XAC technical publication projects and several technical training projects.

Used to work in Airbus Beijing Engineering Center as the stress engineer from 2008 to 2010. Has rich experience in aviation technology.